Workplace Giving with WWF-Australia

WHO ARE WWF?

WWF's mission is to save threatened plants and animals and to support their recovery. With the help of our supporters, WWF-Australia is working to conserve a growing number of native species everyday. We do this by addressing the threats that affect them using the best available science while working in partnership with communities, Indigenous groups, government and business.

WHAT IS WORKPLACE GIVING?

Workplace giving is a simple yet powerful way for employees to make regular donations directly from their pay and it's one of the easiest ways business, like yours, can support wildlife through our work.

Your employees can give small amounts pre-tax which increases the impact of every dollar. Together, these contributions make a big difference. Employers can see their organisational values brought to life, boost employee morale and improve staff retention rates and WWF-Australia gains long term, stable funding for our vital conservation projects. It's truly a win-win-win.

Regular workplace giving contributions help to conserve endangered native species and most recently, allowed WWF-Australia to respond immediately and at scale to the devastating bushfire season.

WHY GET INVOLVED?

Your employees' pre-tax contributions help create a future where people, animals and the planet thrive. Workplace contributions help make it possible for WWF to tackle issues like the recent bushfires, deforestation, climate change, water scarcity, and illegal wildlife trade. Regular giving makes it easier for us to plan and expand our protection programs for native wildlife and landscapes. Benefits to your employees include:

- It's all organised by payroll so there's no upkeep or administration for employees.
- It eliminates the need to collect receipts and wait until the end of the year to claim tax back. Not only that but because donations are pre-tax, every dollar goes further and can do more good.
